I was hot at the time, and probably said some things that were impolite. Among them was a statement that Johnson wanted the umpires in the American League to favor the White Sox, because of his close relations with their owner, Comiskey. Because of that break, Johnson decided to get me, and he has been after my scalp ever since. The story that I tried to sell out Detroit to the National League is untrue, and merely a subterfuge."

COMMITTEE LEARNS OF JACK-POT STORY

Lorimer Investigation.

Chicago, Sept. 26.-The testimony of Charles A. White, regarding the jack-pot payments made in St. Louis, was adthis afternoon. In making this ruling, however, the members of the Senatorial investigating committee made it clear that they were not creating a precedent for other witnesses, and, in fact, White's testimony in this respect might be stricken out later. The committee had spent twenty minutes in executive session, following an hour of argument by Attorneys Alfred Austrian and Elbridge Hanecy, and when the members emerged from their room, White was recalled to the stand and the question which had stopped the pro gramme of the meeting earlier in the day was read. It was: "State what took place in St. Louis," and opened the way for the bath room story.

"What do you intend to prove by this question?" was the query of Chairman Burrows to Mr. Austrian. "I expect the witness to say that h was paid $900," was the reply. "We will allow this testimony to be gone into in the case of this witness," said the chairman. "The committee, however, desires it to be understood that this is not a precedent for other testiseems wise, the evidence may be stricken the following events have been arranged;

No wonder that President Redman and Manager Gibson, as they mingled with the guests, felt happy over the multitude of compliments which were showered upon them. No wonder that, with pardonable pride, they escorted their guests through the kitchen, where the chefs were dallying over the tidbits with the loving pride of artists, and exhibited the perfect appointments of the cuisine. It is, in fact, one of the proud achievements of the Cafe Republique that the patrons of the restaurant are not restricted to the dining apartment. The kitchen is as clean and attractive as any other portion of the establishment, while the cold storage rooms and the bakeries and the wine cellars present all the most modern and ingenious devices known to culinary skill.

Representative Citizens Present. In the artistic dining-room, with all its attractive decorations, gathered a hundred or more of the representative citizens of Washington. There were the Commissioners of the District, and Mayor Paff. of Alexandria, and the judiciary, and men of high official station, all gathered by their presence to the launching of an undertaking which stands unique among the enterprises of Washington. The souvenirs which were at each plate were in keeping with the high character of the evening's entertainment.

It was originally intended that there should be no speeches, out at the last moment Dr. Wiley, the pure food expert, and one or two others were prevailed upon to express appropriately their gratification at the success which had been achieved. It is needless to say that their complimentary re-narks were halled with enthusiastic applause, and that if all the guests had been called upon for some remarks it would have taken a volume to print the commer dations. Certainly by the Minister from Siam, Marquis the Cafe Republique, inaugurated under Akharaj Varadhara, will be played for such delightful auspices, seems destined to achieve a success beyond the fondest hopes of its promoters.
